GMAT

EXAMINATION

Most business schools need the Graduate Management Admissions Test (GMAT) for admission into accredited MBA and other programmes. If you want to get into a top business school, you need to score well on the GMAT test, even if the admissions committees will also look at your grades, transcripts, essays, CV, job experience, and interview. Our training materials are the product of extensive investigation by our R&D staff. You can relax knowing that you've found the appropriate location with the right people to help you thanks to the standardised content, a variety of practise questions on the student site, adaptive exams, full-length practise tests, a personalised study plan, and booster sessions. We'll do all in our power to ensure your complete satisfaction and the success in completing your goals. So that you may study when and where it is most convenient for you, we provide both online and offline delivery methods, as well as flexible preparation choices. Live sessions are available both online and in traditional classroom settings. We operate our courses in an omnichannel manner to make things even more convenient for you. This means that you may easily switch between our live online programme and our classroom programme at any moment throughout the course since the two share the same course length, materials, and value added services. Our GMAT prep course offers BOOSTER sessions for qualified students. You may use Booster sessions to help you get your highest possible score. To help you get the most out of your last few weeks of GMAT study, the most qualified trainers will lead small group sessions and provide individual mentorship.

GMAT EXAM

The GMAT[®] exam, created by the Graduate Management Admission Council (GMAC), is the only international standardised examination focused only on graduate-level business and management students. Management Assessment Program International (GMAT) is in charge of the global distribution and administration of the GMAT. B-schools will utilise your GMAT score as one factor among several when evaluating your application. When applying to graduate programmes, having a high GMAT score might set you apart from the competition.

GMAT[™] Online Exam?

The GMAT[™] online exam is a remote proctored version of the test center-based GMAT[™] exam designed to help students meet their application goals – from the comfort of their home. Students have the option to take the GMAT[™] exam online or at a test center – or both – the choice is his!

Appointments are available around the clock and testing dates are available 6-months out on a rolling basis. The GMAT[™] online exam can be taken on a Windows or Mac computer, and features:

- 4 full exam sections: Quantitative, Verbal, Integrated Reasoning, and the Analytical Writing Assessment (AWA) section
- Same time, scoring, and number of items as the test centre-based exam
- Flexibility to use a physical or an online whiteboard for scratch work
- Disability accommodations
- Accepted by over 7,000 global business programs
- Scores valid for 5 years
- Complimentary unlimited score report sending
- Adhar card can be used instead of a passport

The Graduate Management Admissions Examination (GMAT) is an adaptive test. The test is broken up into four distinct parts: quantitative reasoning, verbal reasoning, integrated reasoning, and analytical writing analysis (AWA). The Select Section Order function allows you to select from the following three possible section orders:

GMAT EXAM

Order #1	Order #2	Order #3
Analytical Writing Assessment	Verbal Reasoning	Quantitative Reasoning

Which is the best place to learn Japanese in Mumbai?

Japanese is an East Asian language spoken by approximately 128 million people, the majority of whom live in Japan, where it is the national language. It belongs to the Japonic (or Japanese-Ryukyuan) language family, and its relationship to other languages, such as Korean, is debatable. Japonic languages have been classified as part of other language families such as Aino, Austroasiatic, and the now-discredited Altaic, but none of these classifications has achieved general recognition. Japanese is a mora-timed agglutinative language with straightforward phonotactics, a pure vowel system, phonemic vowel and consonant length, and lexically important pitch-accent. Word order is usually subject-object-verb, with particles indicating grammatical function, and sentence structure is a
